2008 Endeavour and UMAP Student Exchange Programmes

A total of 29 Australian undergraduate students will be travelling to various host institutions in Malaysia soon, as part of the 2008 Endeavour and UMAP Student Exchange Programmes. A combined total of RM1.04 million worth of funding has been allocated by the Australian Government for both programmes.

The exchange will also see some 39 Malaysian undergraduate students making their way for a short sojourn to selected Australian universities. The list of Australian universities follows:

The University of Adelaide
The Australian National University
Charles Darwin University
Charles Sturt University
Flinders University
RMIT University
University of South Australia
University of Wollongong

Both Exchange Programmes play an important role in showcasing Malaysian education to Australian students and encouraging more Australians to undertake their studies in Malaysian Universities.
